The Mintlaw Academy A-Z of Literacy
H is for Handwriting

You? or you?

Like it or not, most of the work you do in school will be in your jotters or on paper, including tests and eventually exams.

If your handwriting is bad, you will constantly run into trouble in so many ways at school: you won't be able to read back your notes to revise, your teacher won't be able to make out some of your answers, and the examiner, once you're doing your exams in S4 and S5, will not be able to award you valuable marks if they can't understand what you've written – even if it is right!

So: now is the time to practise your handwriting. Practice makes perfect after all. Your muscles in your hand may get sore but the more you use them, the stronger they get and in time, they won't hurt at all! Write whenever you can, and MAKE SURE you can read it back to yourself!

Survival

Survival tip! Don't ever criticise your teacher's handwriting if your own is a mess! You will NOT make yourself popular!

The English Faculty are looking for some enthusiastic S1,2 and 3 pupils to help us out with a media project we would like to do for the English Twitter feed. We would like to create some short interviews with S1-3 pupils talking about English, your learning and what we've been doing in term 1 and 2 in the Faculty, and we'd like your help in producing these. So if you like making films, interviewing people and being nosy, or just really like English, can you please give Mr Closs and Mrs McCluskey your name please by Friday 30th of October.

Please be advised applications for session 20/21 is now available on our website to apply online only. Please use the link to take you there.
